All that Auggie wants is to fit in with the other kids. Auggie is so sweet, but no one treats him like he treats them. Auggie gets bullied because of the way he is, but he knows that he just wants to be like every other kid.

Why did you like this book? It teaches you a lot about life and how people are to people that are different than them. It also teaches you that you always need to be yourself no matter what.

Why should someone read it? It's fun and it educates you at the same time!
